The Rockefeller-Aspen Diaspora Program (RAD) is a collaborative effort between the Rockefeller Foundation and the Aspen Institute that is designing a targeted and coordinated approach to facilitate the strategic investment of financial and human capital from diasporas to their home countries. Housed at the Aspen Institute, our mission is to create a medium that provides capital, convenes, and advises tipping-point diaspora investors.

The information gathered during the conversation will be analyzed to guide the development of a concrete set of recommendations on the mechanisms that we believe will catalyze diasporas' investments. The increased flow of capital will contribute not only to economic development by benefiting impact funds and social entrepreneurship in the countries of origin, but it will also contribute to development in key sectors such as health and education by benefiting origin country NGOs.

RAD is seeking your input. We would be grateful if you could spend a few minutes of your time filling out our survey. The survey is anonymous and is intended to measure the diaspora's motivations and interests in contributing to development efforts in the Philippines. You can find the survey by clicking here.
